Assassin Of Cermak Dies In Florida Chair

Murderer is Defiant to the Last; Marches to His Doom With Taunts and Calls to His Executioners: "Push the Button!"

RAIFORD, FLORIDA, Mar. 20, 1933— (UP) —Giuseppi Zangara, who boasted he wanted to kill all presidents, was executed at the state prison here this morning, for the murder of Mayor Cermack of Chicago, while he was attempting to assassinate President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt. The first bolt shot through his body at 9:17 a. m. He was pronounced dead at 9:26.

He was defiant to the end.

"Lousy capitalists," he shouted. Then, looking around, he exclaimed: "What, no pictures?" approaching the chair, he said: "Me no afraid of chair. You no have to put me in chair. Push the button."

"OLD IRONSIDES" TO DRAW CROWD FROM THIS CITY

When the Frigate "Constitution" docks in San Francisco bay on April 1st, it will be greeted by the most enthusiastic excursion from Nevada City and Grass Valley ever to attend such a historical event. Carrying the personal endorsement of Mrs. Ella Austin, County School Superintendent, and other civic leaders the trips is being arranged by the Nevada County Narrow Gauge. With unheard of roundtrip fares of $1.75 for students and $2.90 for adults every history loving person should join this caravan.

The Nevada City Nugget, on page four of this issue, is offering every boy in Nevada County an opportunity to see and board Old Ironsides. Any boy who brings in two new yearly paid up subscriptions to the Nevada City Nugget, at $2.00 each, or four half yearly subscriptions, at $1.00 each, will, with his parents consent receive a free round trip ticket to Oakland and return. This offer opens today and closes at noon on Friday, March 31.

The most famous vessel in the history of the United States Navy, the "Constitution" was launched in 1797. She was built with staunch oak armor, so solid that it is said that cannon balls bounced off her sturdy hull, scarcely leaving a scratch, for which she gained the nickname of "Old Ironsides."

Her first service was as the flagship of Commander Preble in her war with the Barbary States, through which she passed unscarred. During the war of 1812, under the command of Captain Issac Hull, she fought the historic battle off Cape Race with the "Guerriere," a British frigate, which she sank.

But after all, even "Old Ironsides" was only a wooden vessel, and in 1830, after having been condemned as unseaworthy, she was ordered desspired Oliver Wendell Holmes' poem, troyed. It was this action that in- "Old Ironsides." And it was this poem that aroused public sentiment to such a degree that the project was abandoned and the vessel was rebuilt in 1833. Years later found this grand old vessel rotting in Boston harbor. Again the old veteran was rebuilt through the contribution of penny donations from thousands of school children. She started her tour of all American ports in 1931 and this visit on April 1st may be her last to the Pacific Coast.

Time schedules will be announced later by D. R. Paine, the local agent who is arranging the excursion for the schools.

SISTER OF NEVADA CITY WOMAN TELLS OF QUAKE

Mrs. Grant Goodale of 1710 57th avenue, Los Angeles, has written her sster Mrs. Christian Andersen of Town Talk, this vivid recital of the earthquake in the southern metropolis:

"In this day of radio news you would all know that Los Angeles itself was not hit so bad, though bad enough. San Pedro, Long Beach, and those towns around here are surely a mess, and lots of buildings here in town are cracked, and many windows broken. My husband states that the California State building is pretty badly cracked and lots of the plaster is off.

"We have a lot of broken dishes and such. The piano was moved away from the wall about 4 inches. The house on the right, next door, suffered badly. The fire place fell in, windows were broken, and on the other side of us the chimney fell off.

"Friday night we had more than 130, shocks 15 of them bad ones, and we have had one every two or three hours since. This morning at 5 o'clock we got a real good shaking up. All schools are closed in town for this week, because some of the buildings are not safe. They will have no vacation at Easter time.

MOTORCYCLIST CRASHES INTO HIGHWAY SIGN

Henry Santinelli, 23, was severely injured Sunday morning while making a turn at the Plaza in the heart of Nevada City, on his cousins motorcycle. The machine became unmanagable and he crashed into a road sign cutting a deep gash in his leg.

He was rushed to the Nevada sanitarium for first aid and later taken to his home, where he will be confined for about ten days.

His cousin, Pat Santirosa, of Jackson, was visiting with the family and Santinelli borrowed it for a little spin.

BLOOMFIELD ENGINEER WRITES OF NEW GUINEA

Last Friday Miss Arbogast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arbogast of the Blue Tent section, received a letter from her uncle, Cecil Brophy, in far off New Guinea.

After family greetings he started giving some details of the gold dredging country he is in. He spoke of the native dogs and cats and their odd habits. The natives of the country generally play football every Sunday at the airdome, which always ends in a free-for-all fight. They have no set rules only kicking the ball around. The natives about the camp are nearly all Mission boys so he has not seen any cannibals. They speak the pidgin English taught to them by the Germans when they occupied the islands.

Mr. Brophy is a native of North Columbia north of Nevada City. He is working in a large gold bearing gravel property where extensive hydraulic operations are being carried on. The name of the company is the Buloville Dredging Company.

He stated two men started out to mine independently of the company and disappeared. It was feared cannibals had killed and eaten them, but the police later found their bodies filled with arrows and spears, killed by savage natives. It is almost impossible to locate the killers in the thick matted jungles.

ENGLEBRIGHT EXPLAINS MINE ASSESSMENT LAW

The following letter will be of interest to all mining men of this section.

Congress of the United States
House of Reppresentatives
Washington, D. C.

Edittor; Nevada City Nugget:

Dear Sir:—

Your letter of the 7th inst., sion of mining claims for the year 1932 to 1933, at hand.

On January 16, 1933, a bill passed the house, suspending the work on mining claims for the fiscal year ending 12 o'clock noon, July 1, 1933, and passed the Senate with an amendment which placed it in conference and died with the session, no agreement having been reached in the Senate, and as a consequence did not become a law. Therefore, under the present situation, it will be necessary to do the assessment work for this year.

It is understood that at the special session of Congress no matters of this kind will be brought up as only legislation to carry out eh President's program i sto be given consideration.

With best wishes, I am
Sincerely yours,

HANDICAP FOR WILDCAT PROMOTERS PROPOSED

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 20—Assembly Bill No. 894, introduced by Assemblyman Jesse M. Mayo of this district which is directly aimed at wildcat promoters who employ labor in mines without sufficient funds to pay for such work, passed the assembly last Thursday with only five dissenting votes.

"The law provides that where operators of property have no title to the property they operate or secured assets, must have on hand or in the bank sufficient cash or negotiable securities for at least two weeks' pay before hiring men," states Assemblyman Mayo, "and does not place a burden upon legitimate operators."

Hundreds of men are daily deprived of their money for honest labor by fly-by-night promoters in not only the mining industry but other endeavors and it is the intention of the author of the bill to protect labor from these promoters. The law has operated successfully in Arizona for a number of years and has saved many thousands of dollars for the workingmen according to the author.

The family of nineteen children of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kistle became a full score last Friday, when the storke, or it may have been St. Patrick, presented the happy couple with the 20th child. Dr. McCullough, himself the 13th in a family of 19 children, was the physician in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Crampton registered at the National hotel yesterday. They are enroute to their home at Los Angeles after several days stay at their mine at Remington Hill.

Among the week-end registered at the National hotel were: Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Smith, Los Angeles; F. Stone, Los Angeles; George K. Ford, San Francisco; H. M. Cooper,

NEVADA COUNTY PIONEERS LAUDED BY DEAN PROBERT

GRASS VALLEY, Mar. 18—"The search for gold dates back to the glimmering dawn of human enlightenment, and the story of its influence upon man is the history of human progress," stated Professor Frank H. Probert, dean of the College of Mining at the University of California, in an address at the auditorium of the Grass Valley high school last night.

Professor Probert's address, "The Lure of Gold," was given under the auspices of the Nevada County chapter of the University of California Alumni Association with O. McCraney, of Nevada City, as chairman of arrangements.

"Gold is an elemental metallic substance, heavy, soft of beautiful and persistent color, unalterable, untarnished and untouched by the vicious attack of disintegrating forces through geological time," said the lecturer. "It is a useless metal in industry, yet is of constant and fixed value. It is prized throughout the world, sought after, coveted, cherished. It has always been the object of man's cupidity."

Speaking of the distribution of gold, Dean Probert said, "Gold is widely though not plentifully distributed in the earth. It is mined on every continent. It comes from the frigid north and the burning tropics, from mountain range and ocean beach, from shallow courses and deep lodes, and the sum total of the struggle, effort, and hardship from all countries is about 700 tons a year, a block of gold about 10 by 10 by 10 feet. For every one part of gold in the earth's crust, there are of 20 of silver, 4,000 of lead, 15,000 of copper and 8,800,000 of iron.

"If the sea has half a grain of gold to the ton, then in the 300 odd million cubic miles of salt water, for every man, woman, and child on the face of the globe there is an individual fortune of $50,000,000 dissolved in the sea; the thing is to get it out! I do not offer this as a means of relief to present depressions or to take up the slack unemployment, but I have long passed the time or ridiculing these highly speculative opportunities. The degree of concentration of gold in sea water is small, but not much smaller than the gold content per unit of volume in some gravels. The Alaska Juneau mine works at a crop of ore from a vein averaging less than one dollar a ton. This means that there is only one part of gold by volume to 3½ million parts."

Dean Probert paid respect and tribute to Grass Valley and Nevada City in his talk. He said, in part, "As today, so in the past the men of this community were moulded of fine fiber. To this section the mining industry owes much. It was here that the rocker, Long Tom, and sluice were developed; ground-sluicing started at Coyoteville Diggings—now Nevada City—in 1851. Here, too, drift-mining on buried placers began in 1856. One of your forebears, the blacksmith Matteson, in 1853, applied the principle of hydraulicking to alluvial gravels. In October 1849 Dr. Caldwell started a store to serve the miners of Deer Creek; increasing industry merited increasing dignity, and your community became known as Coyote Diggings, than Coyoteville and later Nevada City. At Grass Valley, in 1850, the possibility of mining gold quartz veins was first proved. Here the first lode claim laws were written; here many advances were made in milling practices. Withal, in these early pioneering days, a high morale prevailed among men, which found experession in the crude but forceful codes which governed their actions and protected their properties. The gentlemanly agreements respecting shape and size of claims and possessory rights were subsequently incorporaed in the laws of the land. The district first established a maximum width of 600 feet for a lode claim, which was later written into the federal statutes of 1872."

IDAHO MARYLAND PAYS DIVIDEND

Local investors in Idaho Maryland mine stock received quarterly dividends checks this wek. Payments were at the rate of two cents a share. Those that have stock in the property are sorry that they did not purchase more of them. This stock was put on the market at a few cents a share and at times was around the $2 mark in the San Francisco stock exchange.

There are 1200 acres of land in the Idaho Maryland holdings and many years of work ahead in ore blocked out to work.

Several months ago a meting was held in the main office in San Francisco and practically all prefered stocks were bought up.

PITTSBURG MINE GROUP LEASED

The Pittsburg group of mines have ben leased to F. P. Hathaway by Thethe Fleischacker interests of San Francisco.

The property which is situated in the Gold Flat district south of Nevada City has not been in operation for about 20 years. It has a good past production record and Mr. Hathaway is here gathering all the data pohsible in order to become acquainted with conditions in the workings before the place closed down.

RELIEF HILL GRAVEL MINE SOON TO OPEN

C. E. Clark, manager of the Relief Hill Mine, was in Nevada City this afternoon. He states that owing to lack of water the Relief Hill Mine will not open probably until sometime in April. At present 11 men are employed in making preparations for the opening and in development work. When the mine opens for hydraulicking 20 men will be employed. Mr. Clark states that he will be able to do 2500 yards daily. The debris will be cared for in a series of dams. Tests of bed rock gravel run between $10 and $15 per yard.

THE EDITORIAL CIRCUIT RIDER

Despite the heavy toll in life and property, Southern California was exceedingly fortunate, in the opinion of many California editors.

Chance was kind, they declare, in that the full force of the earthquake was not felt in the most thickly populated districts and that the tremors occurred at an hour when the greater percentage of the people were in the open instead of within buildings which were razed.

To those who have gone through similar disturbances, the horrors of the situation in the South are very real, said the Berkeley Daily Gazette, adding:

"For these reasons and the multitude of ties that bind the North and South, Northern California is deeply concerned today over the disaster that has befallen the South, and stands ready to extend every aid at its command to restore order and relieve the suffering and privation of the thousands of victims of the earthquake."

The Hayward Review said:

"We people of Northern California know what a severe earthquake means, and everyone here sends sympathy to the people of the afflicted area. California is all one, from Hornbrook to Calexico, and if Northern California finds it can lend any aid to Southern California in its time of need, it will be happy to lend every assistance."

'To say that the rest of California and the entire world sympathize with the people of the stricken area is not necessary," remarked the El Centrol Imperial Valley Press. "At such times men are brought to a common level. With the first shock of their terror moving into the past there comes, even among the victims themselves, a splendid effort to help. This effort is contagious, spreading far and near as men rally to the aid of their stricken fellows, backing up their sympathy with material assistance."

Commenting on the magnificient response from every part of the state, the Bakersfield Californian said:

"At times it appears that rivalry of various kinds might lead to cleavage and weaken the bonds by which the commonwealth is bound. Strangely enough, disaster in any part of the state instantly proves the fallacy of such impressions and demonstrates its splendid solidarity."

"Already the marvel of the world for its achievements in the rapid building of a beautiful and happy community, and Southern California will go on undaunted," states the San Francisco News. "And some day the date of what now seems a crushing disaster will be seen as the starting point of a finer and more solid development."

"The Southland's courageous and enterprising citizens may be relied upon to do the utmost to turn disaster to opportunity," said the Stockton Record. "The hustling citizenry who in the past converted a desert into a paradise may be expected to triumph over the present emergency—as formidable as it appears."

The Red Cross Appeals For Earthquake Relief Fund

To relieve the distress of thousands of men, women and children camped in the parks of Southern California cities since the earthquake last Friday night, the American Red Cross appeals to the people of the Pacific Coast States to raise funds immediately.

Governor James Rolph, Jr., of California, by proclamation, has designated the Red Cross as the official relief and rehabilitation agency and urges support of the Red Cross.

Many homes have been destroyed or seriously damaged. Owing to the lack of housing facilities, thousands of disaster sufferers have been sheltered in tents in Bixby and Recreation Parks, Long Beach. Other thousands in this and other communities have made use of space on lawns to set up tents in their effort to carry on.

Mass feeding has been conducted in Long Beach, Compton, Artestia and Lynwood, all in the affected area. Hundreds of volunteers from the Red Cross, American Legion, Legion Auxiliary, Salvation Army, the State Government, the Army and Navy, and the National Guard have co-operated with a view to meeting the emergency.

John Barton Payne, Chairman of the American Red Cross, has announced an appropriation of $50,000 to the Disaster Relief Fund of $500,000 needed. At the same time all Red Cross Chapters have been asked to mobilize their forces and finances to help the stricken people of Southern California.

Thousands are without savings and facilities to help themselves. They have turned to the Red Cross for help. Money is needed for hospital bills, medical care, as well as for the rehabilitation program covering the repairing and rebuilding of homes.

Funds are needed to get the families out of the public parks and back into their homes. The Disaster Relief program of the Red Cross does not include rehabilitation of business property or business houses that were damaged or destroyed.

State and National funds may be forthcoming later for reconstruction of public buildings, such as schools, libraries, city halls and fire houses, but the first call now is for houses to shelter the homeless.

The Red Cross urges that contributions be forwarded to the nearest Chapter, or to the Pacific Branch Office of the Red Cross in San Francisco.

WEEKLY COMMENT

BY CHRISTIAN ANDERSEN

Herr Hitler, the German Chancellor, has declared that Tuesday will be a national holiday in the celebration of the awakening of the new Germany. Not such a bad idea in itself and if the Germans feel just right on Tuesday morning they will turn it into the beginning of a real epoch in the fatherland's history. But Hitler is smart enough to know that the people will eventually rule no matter whose name graces the Chancellor's portfolio.

Powerful influence is working in France to make the government pay the monthly installments owing to the United States. This is no doubt brought about by the feeling that in any event it is well to keep the friendship of the consumers of foreign products in this country. Then too, there might be some altruism mixed with the French business acumen and cupidity.

Before me is a copy of The New York Times and on every page appear headlines, subheads and whole stories expressing confidence in our new president; yes, even the ads are loaded with these same expressions of loyalty and confidence in the sagacity, ability and honesty of the new head of the government. It is evident that public sentiment augurs well for the success of the administration as a whole. The next expression is perhaps tardy, but from an eyewitness you can take this as gospel, there is a most definite upturn in the attitude of the average merchant because he sees that things are progressing. This feeling will eventually penetrate the warp and woof of society and the first thing we know a sane normalcy will be here.

The state legislature seem to be afraid to levy more taxes on the utilities.

Their fear (or what is it?) takes the form of solicitude for the welfare of the consumers. They express the belief that the taxes will be passed on to the already overburdened consumer.

That should not be possible as long as the Railroad Commission still functions. Therefore if the tax is just, there is no reason for all the delay.

The kinks are being taken out of the road inside Nevada City limits on the way to Downieville. That is as it should be, and our town will benefit from all such improvements. Here's another service the boys in the State Labor Camp, have done Nevada County. Thank you boys.

MORE GAS FUNDS FOR COUNTIES

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 20—(UP)—Increased apportionments of gasoline tax funds and motor vehicle fees for counties and cities will be asked of the state legislature in a compromise program under preparation here.

The program, sponsored by the California League of Municipalities, County Supervisors associations, State chamber of commerce and automobile clubs, represents a combination of a series of highways measures now before the legislature.

Under the present apportionment of gasoline taxes and motor vehicle fees, Nevada county received $28,499.53 in 19:32... On this basis, but under terms of the proposed plan, the county would receive $51,153.09 it was estimated.

In the first place, it was pointed out, the plan contemplates no diversion of gasoline taxes for purpose other than highway construction and maintenance.

The existing law dividing the gasoline tax gives 1 cent to counties and 2 cents to the state. The new plan contemplates taking one-quarter of a cent from the state's share and allocating it to cities on a population basis for improvement of thoroughfares within city limits.

Favoring the small counties, the plan would allow the existing flat guarantee of $20,000 annually from the gasoline tax plus an additional apportionment on the basis of registration.

BIG SETTING OF EGGS

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 20—(UP)—The state division of fish and game has 20,000,000 trout eggs ready for planting this season in California streams, a report revealed.

PROPOSED TRUCK TAX TO BENEFIT COUNTIES

SACRAMENTO, Mar 19—(UP)—Passage of a senate bill, introduced by Senator Bert B. Snyder, Santa Cruz, providing a "ton" mile tax for trucks and trailers would give Nevada City $3,577.94 as its share for street work.

The measure would displace present flat fees on heavy vehicles based on their unladen weight, with license taxes computed on gross weight mileage actually travelled.

Senator Snyder declared something could be done to compel "commercial users of our streets and highways to pay their fair share of the expense of the maintenance and construction."

"Our splendid highway system has encouraged extensive use of heavily loaded trucks and trailers," Snyder continued. "This results in much wear and tear on city streets and roads generally.

"Gasoline taxes paid in the operation of such trucks are insufficient compensation for the facilities enjoyed. It is well known that a truck may weigh four times as much as an ordinary passenger car and yet uses only twice as much fuel per mile."

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Hatch has been very ill with the flu.

EARLY HISTORY TALES RECITED BY CIVIC CLUB

This is the continuation of an article on the historical program at last wee'ks meeting of the Womens Civic Improvement Club:

Miss Minnie Brand spoke of greatest tragedies of this section. Nov. 1856, Sheriff W. W. Wright and two deputies went to Gold Flat jail to spend the night watching some prisoners. Unbeknown to the officials several citizens were watching the jail. A slight disturbance in the night and two officers were killed, one the sheriff. Steve Bernard proved a hero when on May 15th 1856, when three highwaymen held up and robbed a stage coming into this city from the north, of $7,900, part from Wells Fargo chest,; robbed seven passengers, he trailed the robbers with Sheriff Johnson and Elmer Gentry, and killed all three men single handed. All the treasure was buried by the robbers and was found. It all took place within 24 hours.

Bernard reecived $2,000 reward and a magnificent gun; the Governor of the state also honoring him.

Another event in 1880 when Miss Brand was a small child was the killing of Banker Cummings of Moores Flat on the Bloomfield stage coming into this city by Blue Tent road. Her father, rushed out with a hastily formed posse, he became the laughing stock of the town when upon his return it was found his gun was unloaded. The robbers Dorsey and Patterson were later captured in the east and returned. Patterson was hung in Nevada City and Dorsey was sent to San Quentin for life..

Mr. Gaviote of the Derbec mine near Bloomfield with Mr. Ostrom were also held up on the road to this city. Bandits escaped and Ostrom rode in on the uninjured horse. Mr. Gaviote had a large sum of gold dust and nuggets from the big Derbec hydraulic mine. In '86 Henry Meyers was killed driving a stage to this city over North Bloomfield road by robbers; as the news spread the fire bell rang for a big fire. Ed Baker drove a wagon across Pine street bridge and it collapsed, all occurring in the space of an hour.

One thousand dollars was raised for fire protection for the city in early times by the women of the town. Later in 1860 the firemen raised $1,000 and formed the Nevada Hose Co. Later another company formed being the Pennsylvania.

Charles Marsh offered his water system to the city of Nevada on a 20 year contract. It was accepted and proved the best system up to that time.

In 1860 several sidewalks and city streets were planked. Plans were to plank a road to Marysville which fell through.

Dr. Sawyer spoke briefly stating all characters in the "Diary of a '49-er" were true persons having their names changed.

Mrs. Belle Douglas read "Whats In a Name," an early day journey from San Francisco to mountains near Downieville. There was a thread of romance woven into the many sad, amusing and interesting details. In speaking of mining there were several terms but the word coyote was attached to those who scratched the surface. Several intervened in parts of Mrs. Douglas' article the first being Miss Goyne. She spoke of churches from Beans history (Mr. Bean being an uncle of Miss Mulloy), the Congregational church built in '51 with 21 members one a woman; the building being of shakes; the Catholic church on Main street in 1857; the Methodist in July of '56; Colonial church in '65; Baptist church in '56. The Baptist church stood where the Powell house now stands. There was a high school built in '62; intermediate school,a nd a primary school in '64. There were several other schools all private ones; and one colored school.

A band, all miners, was formed in Washington by Philip Goyne in 1862 for which he reecived great praise. Mr. Goyne was Miss Goynes father and her mother, then Miss Sarash Fraser, taught 20 pupils at Omega a town nearby.

The Daily Gazzette was the first paper, 1851, edited in Nevada City by Editor Isoard. The early names in advertisements in Beans history recalled the names of relatives of many present. It was thought Dr. Chapman has been in business longer than any one in the town today.

Mrs. R. E. Harris spoke of literature from Bean's Diary of '49. In 1868 the Nevada City library was formed with 2,000 volumes; the first newspaper was in 1851; first theatre in '51; it being dramatic. Many famous actors and actresses played there among them were Ed Booth, Lotta Crabtree, Emma Nevada, Jimmie Lind. The song "Clementine," was a fair sample of songs in those days. A large sum of money was raised at a church social which charged $2 entrance fee. All amusements being from $2 to $2.50.

Mrs. Douglas again resumed her narrative telling of the women assistng in assembling supplies for the Civil War.

She also said there were 12 Chinese laundries in Nevada City.

Mrs. Dick Bennetts quoted events from the history of the gold fields.

Mrs. Douglas read a grocery order from the Sapsucker Mining Company sent in to Nevada City for groceries. It brought forth quite a lot of merriment. A shower of angle worms in the early days caused much comment in Nevada City and Grass Valley, the two papers giving many theories for the occurrence.

Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Douglas concluded the excellent program with a popular '49er song.

"Hangtown Girls," as encore they sang "Sweet Betsy from Pike" and later Mrs. Harris recited a young married man's troubles. Miss Brand accompanied them on the piano. Mrs. Douglas wore a '49-er miners costume while Mrs. Harris wore an old colonial dress, their songs created much merriment.

Many early day pictures of people, events, plays, and the town were on display in the studio.

Mr. Belle Douglas' father, I. J. Rolfe, edited the Nevada Democrat from 1856 to 1865 in Nevada City.

TRACTOR ACTS AS ROUGH AS LOS ANGELES QUAKE

WILLOWS, Mar. 20—(UP)—Returning to his grocery store recently after hearing of the earthquake in Southern California, W. E. Beat found a whole shelf of groceries had crashed to the floor.

"Guess the shock must have reached here, too," remarked Beat.

Just then a friend entered the store and said:

"I was turning my tractor around last night and bumped into the building. Hope it didn't hurt anything."

STATE SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM CURTAILED

SACRAMENTO, Mar 19—(UP)—California school districts will build very few new schools this year, according to a survey of the state department of education.

In view of economic conditions drastic reductions in budgeted amounts for capital outlay have been made by scool districts throughout the state in an attempt to meet lowered revenues.

It has been estimated by the department that elementary, high school and junior college districts have reduced their budgets this year by approximately $48,767,573. Of this total reduction, $11,234,029 or 33 per cent represents curtailment of the capital outlay or building programs, the department reported.

Total school budgets of Nevada county show $8,324 set up for its building program.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. ADOPTS ORANGE PAINT

SACRAMENTO, Mar. 20—(UP)—The state department of public works has gone in for "bigger and better visibility."

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department, had ordered all equipment of the division of highways painted a vivid orange.

The bright orange color was selected on the basis of a recommendation by the United States bureau of Standards which found that orange showed up better than any other color.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Veterans Enjoy Dance On St. Patrick's Eve.

Banner Mountain Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, acted as hosts Thursday night to approximately 40 members of Hague, Thomas, Hegerty Post No. 130 American Legion and their auxiliary, in a St. Patrick's Day Dance and party, at the Odd Fellows hall.

The notable feature of the event was the fact, that this is the first time that the two great organizations of Nevada county, and composed entirely of ex-service men, one of World War Veterans only and the other of Foreign War Veterans, and their respective auxiliaries, have ever joined in an event of this kind.

Dancing started promptly at 9 o'clock, with music furnished by the Cortiselli Trio. Old time dances as well as the later dances were indulged in, with Mr. Wilcox of the American Legion, acting very crediably as master of ceremonies.

At 10:30 supper dance was played after which all retired to the banquet hall, where an appetising repast of sandwiches, cake and coffee awaited. This was served by the local auxiliary, and considerable comment was made, on the credible manner in which it was done. During the repast a few remarks were heard from the following: Russel Feemster, Commander of the American Legion, William Gracey, Commander of the local V. F. W. Post, Alice Hendon, first Vice-President of the Legion Auxiliary, Mary Tonella, President of the V. F. W. Auxiliary, and Mr. Ellis of the Legion.

After supper every one returned to the dance floor, where dancing was resumed until mid-night.

Every one went home, well satisfield, feeling that they wouldn't have missed it for the world.

The Post and Auxiliary held their regular meeting before the dance with very good attendance.

Scout Officials and Families Enjoy Picnic

A very enjoyable time was spent eral feet above the streets. The own-Soda Springs, by the following: Mr. and Mrs. Leland Smith, their twin sons, Scout official Miles Coughlan, Scout Master Reisecker and five boy scouts. Among the scouts were Richard Parsons, Scout leader, and Albert Pratti, Assistant leader of this district.

They parked their cars near Soda Springs and used skis to walk over about six feet of snow up over the ridge to camp.

Next week end Eagle Scouts of the different divisions will visit Camp Pahatsi.

Woodcraft Neighbors Enjoy Jigsaw Puzzles

Champion Circle, No. 325, Neighbors of Woodcraft, held their regular second monthly meeting Thursday night.

A new candidate was initiated into the order.

Jip saw puzzles filled in a social time. The two tables completing their puzzles first and second were awarded prizes.

Dainty refreshments were served at the conclusion of the games.

Mrs. Margaret Clarke is Guardian Neighbor of Woodcraft.

Meetings of the circle are held each first and third Thursdays of each month.

Fred Austin, who is connected with the Sixteen To One mine at Alleghany was a Nevada City visitor during the week.

A dainty luncheon was served in the banquet hall. There were 40 members present.

Many Children Take Part in P. T. A. Program

A splendid program was given by the fourth grade pupils of Washington grammar school Friday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. O. McCraney.

The slides and short talk of Canada by Rev. Charles Washburn gave a glimpse of that wonderful country.

A good crowd of parents and visitors were present.
